awesomeness

These things are difficult:

- What sounds similar to this song?
- What music do you want to listen to?
- How can you find new music, and why might you like it?
- What are your listening patterns?

Browser wishlist

- organize music based on sound content
- organize music based on contextual data
- flexible exploration
- better filters
- better understand your music tastes and listening patterns

Contribution

- 3D
- hybrid browsing/recommendation
- all automatic
- the bigger picture: context, transparency
- explorative, focused, or precise modes

Impact

- How accurate are these genre descriptors? Sub-genres?
- How varied is the music I listen to?
- How has an artist's sound changed over time?
- How different are remixes/performances/productions of the same piece?

Tools

- Echo Nest: Analyzer (and Contextual API)
- Sun Labs: content-based music similarity, SITM 3D, web crawlers, artist similarity
- last.fm
- private music database (~11,000 albums)

Evaluation: User studies

Time completion of “normal” and more specialized tasks:

- Find a piece you want to listen to now.
- Make a playlist for your party.
- Find the music you like to listen to in the mornings.

Survey for more subjective feedback
